Invariably they would say 'It is Dr. Moody,' or 'It resembles your father.'" Napoleon, Ohio. -Belfast (Me.) Letter in Boston Record.

Accepted the Compromise

The Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker of Hartford re ates a hitherto unpublished incident of the organization of the Hartford Young Men's Christian association a few years ago. The conservatives wanted to keep out Universalists and Unitarians. This course was distasteful to Dr. Parker and a few other liberals, who proposed as a compro-mise that the Apostles' creed be taken as the platform of the organization. "That proposal," says Dr. Parker, "was made and accepted in a room in the City hotel, and the few persons there and then present are not likely to forget the scene or its inci-dents. Mr. Moody and Mr. George Pentecost represented one party.

"When they were told that for the sake of peace the insertion of the Apostles' creed is a condition of active membership would be conceded, Mr. Moody, with refreshing frankness, confessed his entire ignorance o that symbol. 'Pentecost,' said he, 'what is the Apostles' croed anyway? I don't know!' Mr. Pentecost was not in a condition of incandescence regarding the subject, where fore some information was imparted, and then the creed aforesaid was produced and read. Mr. Moody listened intently and then said, 'That's good,' and asked to have it read again. On the second reading he seemed to like it very much indeed, as one might expect from such a catholic and apostolic man. He thought it would do, and Pentecost agreeing it was accepted." -New York Tribune.

MODERN MIRACLES.

Careful and Complete Investigation by Statements Recently Published. A few days since, the Times-Union of this city published a remarkable letter, under the head-lines of "An Athens Miracle." The statements made were so unusual, and the interest occasioned so great, that an investigation by a "Jour-

To verify these statements and get what other information would be of interest to our readers, the Journal representative left Albany and soon found himself in the pretty village of low were in every way true. The Rev. D. William Lawrence, pastor of the Lutheran church, Postmaster True and Justice of the Peace Goeller, when asked about it, said that every word was true to their knowledge. Mr. Clow was at death's doorsuffering with kidney trouble. The physicians failed to beip him, and he was cured by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remdy. Also that Favorite Rdmedy had performed as marvelous a cure for Mrs. Casper Brooks, wife of the proprietor of the Robins House, of that

This town has but one Mecca these days. It is the drug store run by Apothecary Moody, who has found stored away on his shelf one of the grisliest mysteries that ever popped up in the state of Maine. R. H. caused me the most intense pain and suffering. I consulted our regular physician, but he did not benefit me; in fact, I kept growing worse. My kidneys were getting very much diseased, and this combination of troubles was almost unbearable. At my husband's suggestion I consulted physiciand Moody's father died about 16 years ago. He was an old fashiened Maine farmer, with a high forehead, merked features and a full seard, which hung out slightly over his stand up collar. There was no mistaking band's suggestion, I consulted physici-Moody's father or a photograph of him after you had once seen it. Three weeks ago ans at Albany, Hudson and Chatham, and took their medicines and prescripthe druggist took down from a shelf a box containing some sort of chemicals he wished tions faithfully, but found no benefit. You can imagine my terrible condito use. He set the box up on end and turned away for a moment. When he turned back, ion at this time, after employing five of he thought he saw something startling on the bottom of the box, so startling that he the best physicians, all to one purpose; but at this dark hours ray of light broke in upon me. Dr. Wm. Smith, of Jewett Heights, was recommended, and it isto shook himself to see whether be was really in his store in Belfast or not. He inspected him I owe my good health, for it was Dr. Smith who prescribed Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for ms. I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it, and began to feel better and kept improving daily, the ulcers healed the box closer. Yes, there was no doubt about it. There on the bottom of the box where it had rested on the shelf was a perfect picture of old Dr. Moody, the drug-gift's father, dead and in his grave these 10 ears.
It was a perfect likeness. There were the up, and my kidney trouble left me en-tirely. My case was greatly complica-ted, and did not stop here; I suffered misery from those terrible headaches retreating forehead, the strong features, the full whiskers, even the collar itself. The portrait has been ground into the bot-tom of the box by the action of the dirt on so common among women, but I kept on taking Favorite Remedy; and am now entirely free from these diseases. I am told that I have a tumor that the shelf and was outlined by distinct and necessary lines of drawing, as if the hand of a master sketcher had drawn it. Moody has the bex on exhibition new and turns it up for the inspection of chance caunot be cured unless I go to a hos-pital, but I think Favorite Remedy will, in time cure that. I have been visitors, at the same time exhibiting a photograph of his father. Nobody has questioned the similarity yet, and the box has been exhibited to hundreds already. Mr. Moody says:

"My father was a practicing physician, and in connection with his practice in 1852 purchased the drug store, which he, and subsequently myself, carried on ever since. The box had been in my store about a year. visitors, at the same time exhibiting a phoso well for the past few months, said Mrs.Brooks, with a smile on her face, that I do nearly all the work about the hotel, and am getting along with about one half the help we used to employ. I certainly don't want to pose as miracle, but what else could you call my recovery?" The box had been in my store about a year Such a straightforward statement and paced up and down for a minute or two convinced the Journal reporter that taining acetanilid. The top of the box was like the bettom. It opened by cutting a Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was scanned its pages eagerly, but without any certainly a Godsend to the sick and apparent relief. Hundreds of people in and about that place, he said. "Oh, yes, we sell quantities of Favorite Remedy. Why, there's Joseph McGiffert, William there's Joseph McGiffert, William Mackey, Martin Hallenbeck, Casper Hallenbeck, Mrs. Robert Tiffany, and many others, say that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is worth its weight in gold."

The investigations of the Journal reporter admit of but one conclusion that as this great medicine is within the reach of all, it should be those who are suffering from rheumatism, dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney liver and urinary troubles. It will correct the worst cases of habitual constipation, and is a certain cure for the diseases and weaknesses of women particularly those that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, eczema, ulcers, sores and tumors, gravie, diabetes or Bright's disease. Favorite Remedy is acknowledged by the medical profession a nature's antidote for uric acid. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and it never fails to cure when the directions are followed Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is to be found with every dealer in medicine, at one dollar a bottle, or six bottles for five dollars.

Slaves of Their Own Signatures

Much of the president's business consists in signing his name, which must be attach ed to all appointments, commissions, promotions and a thousand and one other docaments.' So exacting is this part of his duty that he cannot perform the whole of it. One employee of the government gets $1,200 a year for writing Mr. Cleveland's name on land warrants. He does nothing else but that.

There are other officials in Uncle Sam's employ, by the way, who do nothing else practically but sign their own names. This is almost the sole duty of the register of the treasury, who is kept hard at work signing documents from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. every day. The assistant treasurer of the United States is another slave to his own signa ture which he is perpetually engaged in affixing to warrants for money. Mr. Cleveland's messages to congress are all written in autograph originally. He does all his writing with his own hand. Such documents he produces on foolscap with pen and ink, turning off sheet after sheet with scarcely a correction. An interevolved. The literary method pursued by President Harrison was wholly different. He found it very hard to write with a pen. and so he would keep by him a pad of paper and a soft lead pencil.

With these he would jot down notes from time to time during leisure moments, and from the memoranda thus made he would afterward dictate to a stenographer. The messages sent to congress are careful copies of the original. Senator Edmunds, while residing officer pro tem, of the upper house, refused to receive a typewritten message from the president. He claimed that the law required a "message in writing," and that typescript was not writing in the prop-er sense. This ruling established a precedent which has been followed ever since —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
